SUSPECT LAD OF WRECKING TRAIN

B. & O. Railroad Detectives Believe Hobart Borden, Aged 14, Was Responsible for Fatal Accident.

HELD AS AN INCORRIGIBLE

Youth Said to Have Told Conflicting Stories About Deraiment of Express at Sparksville.

Although Hobart Borden, a boy about fourteen years of age, is being held at Brownstown upon a charge of incorrigibility it is believed that he was responsible for the wreck on the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad near Sparksville Sunday morning July 6, when the early eastbound express left the rails resulting in the death of Fireman Ed Boyer and the serious injury of Engineer Walter Darling and several other trainmen and passengers. Sheriff Robertson has been watching for the lad for several weeks and arrested him Tuesday at his home near Salem. He will be held until the railroad police department becomes convinced that he had nothing to do with the accident.

At the time of the fatal wreck the road officials suspected that the train had been purposely derailed as the track had been inspected a short time before the accident and nothing was found afterwards to show that the rails or roadbed were defective. It is reported that the detectives were assigned to the case at once and in a short time became suspicious that the train had been derailed. Several clues point to the boy's guilt, it is said, and the detectives now feel they have sufficient evidence to warrant the lad's arrest as an incorrigible.

The boy is the son of John Borden, and the family formerly lived three miles south of Medora. At the time the wreck occurred the boy lived near Sparksville. It is said that he was seen in the vicinity of the wreck shortly after it occurred and when questioned regarding it related several conflicting stories.

For some time the railroad officials have believed that the deraiment could have been caused by a spike. It is said that a spike was found near the wreck and could not be accounted for. Railroad employees say a spike could have been placed on the expansion joint of the outer rail in such a manner that it would serve the same purpose as a "D" rail. The wreck occurred on a sharp curve.

EVANSVILLE MAYOR AND COUNCILMEN VISIT CITY

Inspect Concrete Streets With View of Recommending Similar Material at Home.

Mayor Bosse, of Evansville, Councilman Elmendorf and Members Osage, Herndon and Weber, of the board of works of that city, were in Seymour several hours Wednesday afternoon inspecting the concrete streets. They were shown about the city by Mayor Ross and members of the council. Evansville is expecting to improve several streets this summer, according to Mayor Bosse, and the officials desired to learn something about concrete. The Evansville officials were particularly pleased with North Walnut street where the steel enforcement and armored joints were used. They paid a high compliment to the business and residence sections of the city.

Mayor Bosse and the other officials had been to Indianapolis to appear before the Public Service Commission to ask that body to investigate the gas rates at Evansville. After Mayor Bosse had presented his case the commission decided to send fifteen experts to Evansville at once to investigate the rates and conditions there. They expect that an investigation will result in a material reduction in the prevailing rates.

THREE UNHAPPY COUPLES SEEK LEGAL SEPARATIONS

Cruel and Abusive Treatment and Abandonment Are Grounds Found in Complaints.

Several cases have been filed in the Jackson circuit court since the adjournment of the December term. Three out of the four cases filed ask divorce decrees.

Rosina D. Steach seeks a divorce from George C. Steach upon the grounds of abandonment and failure to provide. They were married June 14, 1874, and lived together until August 10, 1903.

Inez Turley has filed a divorce case against Claude Turley, alleging cruel and abusive treatment. They were married June 16, 1910, and separated January 14, 1914.

Cruel treatment upon the part of the defendant is the allegation of the complaint filed by Emma S. Smallwood against Samuel B. Smallwood, for divorce. They were married January 7, 1906, and separated December 29, 1913.

Thomas H. Hazelrig, guardian of Glenn Gordon Cummings, a minor, has filed suit against William A. Boyce, et al., on note and mortgage.

Superintendent T. A. Mott has received the new high school certificate which was issued by the state department of education. The certificate places the high school in the first rank as the new manual training and domestic science courses have been made a part of the curriculum.

TRAFFIC REDUCED BY WARM WEATHER

Spring Sunshine Largely Responsible For Slack Movement of Freight on Railroads.

LITTLE COAL BEING SHIPPED

Dealers Stocked up Yards Last Fall and Have Good Supply on Hand For Late Trade.

The present period of warm spring sunshine proves that the weather conditions have a material effect upon the railroads. While the slack business on the local roads is not due entirely to the unseasonable weather it is largely responsible for the small number of freight trains now being moved and the reduced passenger traffic.

At this time the railroads in the north and northwest are rejoicing over the unprecedented lack of snow-storms and blizzards this winter while the roads extending to the southern states complain that there is not enough cold weather this winter to turn the attention of the tourists to the winter resorts on the Gulf and in California. Usually at this time of the year the passenger trains are crowded with southern passengers who are on their way to the warmer climates to avoid the snow and sleet of this section of the country.

But the passenger departments are not the only ones to suffer. The great coal carriers feel the effects of the warm winter probably more than any other roads. Last winter there was a coal famine, and, thinking that history would repeat, the dealers stocked up plentifully early last summer and now find that they have great quantities on hand and little demand for it.

The slow movement of coal has been especially felt by the railroads that enter the Indiana coal regions. Under ordinary winter conditions the demand would be so great that the railroads would have difficulty in taking care of the shipments.

It is reported that practically all of the railroads in this part of the state have their sidetracks filled with empty cars.

FREQUENT TESTS MADE OF SUPPLY

Seymour Water Company Takes Even Greater Precaution Than Required by State Health Board.

WATER IS UP TO STANDARD

Superintendents of Indiana Water Works Asked to Aid in New Campaign.

With the aim of bringing the water supplies of Indiana cities up to the standard H. E. Barnard, state food and drug inspector, has mailed to superintendents of water works plants notices asking them to co-operate in the proposed campaign. According to the announcement the state board of health will require an analysis from each water supply four times annually.

Such an analysis as proposed by the state board has been made of the local water supply more often than four times each year since 1909. Since that year the Seymour Water Company has followed a plan of making tests which is not in vogue in many Indiana cities and which goes even further than the requirements of the recent notices. With the aid of the state inspector arrangements were made by which bacteriological tests are made constantly at the local plant and these are proved up by the state board. In sending samples to the state laboratory bottles of water drawn from the supply of three separate days are frequently forwarded.

By the system of local tests and checks by the state laboratory the Seymour Company is able to furnish pure water that measures up to the standard of the state board. The state laboratory has commended the local water supply frequently and has pronounced it one of the most wholesome furnished by any company in Indiana. Several local physicians have also made careful analysis of the city water and have recommended that it be used in homes where typhoid fever has appeared in preference to well water.

The local company also furnished water for the drinking tanks of the B. & O. Southwestern and C. & H. & S-E. Railroads and two interurban roads which could not be supplied unless the water was approved by the state board. Under the law the water companies furnishing drinking water for railroad and traction passengers are required to show a certificate that the supply has been thoroughly tested and is found to be free of all impurities.

The notice sent out by Mr. Barnard is as follows:

"The necessity for a rigid control of the quality of water furnished the consumer is well understood by all who have to do with supplies," the commissioner said. "While there are some deep well supplies so located that pollution of the wells themselves is not possible, yet from time to time it is found that there is trouble at the reservoir or elsewhere in the system, and that the quality of the water is not satisfactory. This is much more frequently the case with surface water supplies, whether they are derived from a river or lake or impounded rainfall.

Indianapolis, January 29—The Indianapolis weather bureau today issued a warning that a cold wave was approaching and would likely sweep southern Indiana tonight. According to the forecast the decided fall in temperature would be accompanied by flurries of snow.

"No surface water is free from danger of pollution and it is this class of supplies that can be served most advantageously by the state laboratories. We desire to work with you first to secure as satisfactory a supply as can be obtained, and second, to assist you in keeping that supply at all times in a potable condition.

"The first object may necessitate sanitary surveys of the watershed and a thorough study of all local conditions, the second is best accomplished by a careful laboratory control. This is especially desirable where filters are in operation or where some modification of raw water is attempted. The state laboratory now is equipped with emergency hypochlorite of lime plants, which will be loaned to cities whenever the occasion warrants."

An analysis of the water supplies of the state four times a year will not furnish absolute protection against pollution, Mr. Barnard says, but it will establish a standard of character that will aid both water companies and the public.

BOOZE FOUND ON PRISONERS IS CONFISCATED BY ORDER

"It Has Got One Man in Trouble and That's Enough" Declares Chief of Police McCord.

"Under no circumstances must whiskey found on prisoners at the time of their arrest be returned to them when they are released from jail" is the new order of Chief of Police McCord. He is firm in his belief that there should be no whiskey about the jail and to make sure that it will not fall in the hands of other persons the chief empties the bottles as soon as they are discovered. For some time liquor found in the pockets of the prisoners has been placed over in one corner of the jail but this assortment is now gone.

Frequently when a man is arrested a search of his clothing will reveal a bottle partly filled with "spirits." Some times these are given back to the prisoner after he has sobered up and is released but from this time on all liquor thus obtained will be confiscated. Chief of Police McCord says there is no reason why the liquor should be returned or even kept at the jail as it has gotten the man in trouble once and if it is returned to him there is nothing to prevent him from getting drunk again—that is if there is enough left in the bottle.

George Hines Dead.

George Hines, aged fourteen years, who has been sick with appendicitis for several weeks at his home east of the city, died about 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hines and was a nephew of the late Frank Hines, who was found dead Wednesday morning at his home in Jennings county.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

JAPAN NOT AIDING REBELS

President Says Commercial Houses of Several Nations Send War Supplies to Mexico.

Washington, January 29—President Wilson today denied the current stories that there is danger of serious trouble between the United States and Japan. He declared the Japanese government are not supplying the Mexican rebels with war supplies but that Japanese firms and commercial houses of other nations have been sending such supplies into Mexico. The President said the United States has no ground in international law to complain of such dealings. Secretary of Navy Daniels has asked for at least two more battleships. He told the committee on naval affairs, however, that the Japanese situation has no bearing on the naval policy of the United States.

LETTER SAYS MILLIONAIRE IS HELD FOR $7,500 RANSOM

Los Angeles Police Receive Communication Signed "Blackmailer" Regarding "F. L. Clark."

Los Angeles, Cal., January 29—A letter signed "Blackmailer" was received by the police today and stated that F. L. Clark, a millionaire, was being held for $7,500 ransom. Sebastian Clark has been missing since January 17 and was supposed to have been drowned.

The letter was turned over to the wife of the missing man and she said she would pay the ransom if the communication was genuine. The police place little faith in the letter and believe it was written by some one desiring notoriety.

BOEHNE URGED TO MAKE RACE AGAINST TAGGART

Democrats in First District Opposed to French Lick Hotel Owner Going to Senate.

Evansville, Ind., January 29—Many of the best Democrats in the First district are shuddering at the thought of Thomas Taggart becoming a candidate for United States senator against Benjamin F. Shively. During the last few days friends of John W. Boehne, of this city, former congressman, have suggested to him that he become a candidate for nomination for United States senator in the event that Taggart became an active candidate.

Boehne is one of the most active anti-Taggart men in the First district, and in case he gets into the running, it is believed he is strong enough to control the vote of the First district against Taggart. Boehne has said repeatedly that he does not wish to hold public office again, but his friends insist that he should help to defeat Taggart in the event that the latter gets into the race.

THURSDAY, JANUARY, 29, 1914.

Readers of the Republican have noticed that since Monday they have been given the advantage of the United Press protective service. With this excellent service the readers of the Republican will find all the important new events in the United States and abroad published each day. The United Press furnishes news as it really is and is not influenced in any way in filing its reports. The stories are sent by telegraph and are received at this office as quickly as it is possible to transmit them over the wires. The Republican takes pleasure in giving this additional service to its readers as it believes they will recognize its real value and worth. The service is maintained at a considerable expense but assists in giving to the people of Seymour one of the most up-to-date daily newspapers that can be found in any city of this size. The Republican has always endeavored to publish the best newspaper possible and that its efforts are appreciated is proven by its constantly growing circulation.

There is no reason why Judge John M. Lewis, of this city, should not be reelected Republican chairman of the Fourth congressional district. He deserves the place because of the excellent manner in which he filled the position last campaign. He worked under trying conditions but despite the handicap of factional trouble the Fourth district made an excellent showing in the election. This year there will be a general lining up of Republicans with their party. The objections which were felt last campaign have been forgotten and everywhere the members of the party are working together to place the organization back where it rightfully belongs. There is no question but that the Republican party is steadily gaining strength which will be proven beyond all doubt next November. Judge Lewis is an enthusiastic Republican. He believes in the Republican principles of government and in the success of the party. He favors a harmony platform and believes that it should contain such planks as are endorsed by the majority of the party.

Tom Taggart is still the same old, sly, political fox. He seems to retain that same shrewdness which placed him in his present position as Democratic boss in Indiana. He has had a feeling that he would like to to the United States Senate but conditions have never been quite favorable. Now he believes there may be a "change in public sentiment" and has put out a "feeler" hoping that the reports might be favorable. He has never announced that he will be a candidate for senator to succeed Senator Shively but has permitted the report to go out that he may become a candidate. If the prospects are dark and threaten to cause a storm of dissatisfaction his decision may be in the negative. In the meantime the public sentiment is being watched and will no doubt largely control Taggart's final conclusion. It is not often that he consents to take the public into his confidence in this manner but this was a time when public could not be entirely forgotten.

The temperance people at Scottsburg are active again and are endeavoring to stamp out the alleged illegal sales of intoxicating liquor. The attorney for the Anti-saloon League, R. C. Minton, is on the ground and is taking a leading part in the prosecution of the cases. Two Indianapolis detectives were sent to Scottsburg and it is alleged they bought whiskey at several places. If a territory is voted "dry" there is no reason why it should not be "dry" in fact as well as in name but if saloons are permitted the sale of liquor should be confined to the retail houses. Saloons are licensed so that the police authorities can keep in touch with the business and to prevent any one who so desires from selling in small quantities in alleys and out of the way places.

Frank J. Singleton, postmaster at Martinsville, is being prominently mentioned in connection with the Republican state chairmanship. Republicans who have followed Mr.

Singleton's work for his party feel that he is exceptionally well qualified for the position. For a number of years he was the editor of the Martinsville Reporter and was active in the Republican Editorial Association. He is conservative and careful and because of his executive ability would be a valuable man at the head of the state organization. Prominent Republicans have enthusiastically endorsed Mr. Singleton for this place, and his selection would be highly satisfactory to the rank and file of the party.

BOYS ARE BEST AT 10 A. M.

School Expert Finds 4 p. m. Worst Hour For Youngsters.

Frank E. Lakey of the commercial department of the English high school in Boston has been investigating the hour of the day, the month of the year and the year of their youth when boys and girls are at their best—or worst—mentally and physically. He says that parents should make their appeals to boys at 10 o'clock in the morning any day in January or early in February and when the youth has reached the age of sixteen. The net results in mental and physical improvement will be greater than at any other time chosen, he says.

Four o'clock in the afternoon should be avoided, as well as the months of March, April and October, for boys and girls are at their worst mentally and physically at that time. The best boy is at his maximum at 10 and 11 in the morning and at the corresponding hour in the evening. The bad boy is at his minimum at 3 and 4 in the afternoon. The mental life predominates in January and February. The boys and girls are lowest from the viewpoint of good citizenship during March, part of April and in October.

VIGO COUNTY GRAND JURY RETURNS FEW INDICTMENTS

People of Terre Haute Are Wondering if Any Convictions Will Really Follow.

By United Press.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 29—Reaction has set in toward the special grand jury's work in the corrupt elections investigation. Today the people are asking doubtfully will any one be convicted? The adjournment of the grand jury after returning only a comparatively few indictments was the most surprising event of the entire investigation.

A long and formidable array of legal counsel for the indicted men also has inspired a general feeling that the prosecution can hardly cope with the opposition. The announcement of eminent counsel to assist special Prosecutor Joseph Roach is being anxiously awaited in reform circles. Supported by public expressions from Circuit Judge Charles M. Fortune and Roach as well as minority party leaders, the average citizen of Terre Haute believes that the primaries, registrations and elections in 1912 and 1913 were marked by gross frauds. Some leading politicians who were named in printed statements as responsible participants in the frauds escaped the grand jury's sweep.

The record in indictments follows: Mayor Donn M. Roberts, charged in five counts with violation of the election law at the primaries in Taylorville in May, 1912.

Cotton Chase, a red light district politician, indicted with Roberts on three counts.

Mayor Roberts, charged in a sixth indictment with conspiring to falsely register voters. With him on the same charge were named: C. S. Batt, city attorney; Marx Myers, a leading clothing merchant and member of the board of public safety; Gerhardt Moninger, newly elected city councilman and a captain in the state militia, and John Roper, a brewery employee.

William Huffman, a member of the Roberts combine in the old council, indicted for permitting the removal of ballots from an election official.

Dr. E. T. Zaring, Grover Smith and James Harris, named in one indictment for an offense the same as Huffman's.

Indictments against three men for trafficking in women in the red light district completed the grand jury's report.

CORNER GANG CONDEMNED FOR ITS BAD INFLUENCE

Frank D. Loomis Says Leader is Often the Worst Boy in The Group.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29—The corner gang is "the pitfall which above all others starts boys in the wrong direction," according to Frank D. Loomis, general secretary of the Children's Association of Indianapolis.

"The gang is born of two elements—a few idle boys and a loafing place," said Loomis. "The boys gather at the loafing place and, while the leader of the gang is never formally elected, there is sure to be one boy who occupies such a relationship to the rest. The leader occupies his position because at first he holds sway over the rest of the boys by daring to do things which the others are afraid or ashamed to do. The leader, therefore, often is the worst boy in the gang."

"If parents generally could but appreciate the grief that may come from a disregard of the evil influences of the gang, I am sure that the remedy would be swift and certain."

SCHOOL FOR TECHNICAL TRAINING IS PROPOSED

Board of Education of Terre Haute is Considering Purchase of New Buildings.

By United Press.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 29—Establishment of a technical training school here is being considered today by the board of education. Large employers of labor would be asked to allow boys and girls between the age of 14 and 18 to attend school a number of hours each week on full pay. The employer in return is expected to receive more efficient work from his employees.

Rose Polytechnic school is moving into new buildings and the old buildings of the school are being considered for purchase by the board of education.

John Oathout, of Hamilton township, who is almost ninety years old, called his children together a few days ago and divided his real estate among them. Each received a deed for about two hundred and fifty acres of land.

COL. G. W. GOETHALS WIRES ACCEPTANCE OF POSITION

New Governor of Panama Canal Zone Will Begin Work of Reorganization at Once.

By United Press.

Washington, January 29—Colonel George W. Goethals, who has had charge of the construction of Panama canal, has accepted the governorship of the canal zone, which position was offered him by President Wilson. His official acceptance was received today.

The executive order signed by President Wilson placing the canal zone under the control of one man was well received in Panama where the uncertainty has been felt. Col. Goethals said there would be no delay upon his part in the reorganization of the canal zone.

EMINENT PHYSICIAN SAYS PEOPLE "EXIST" TOO FAST

Cleveland Doctor Declares Overeating is More Dangerous to Health Than Overdrinking.

By United Press.

Cleveland, Jan. 29—"Overeating puts more people in the grave-yard than overdrinking." This is the basis of the longevity rules of Dr. W. P. Horton, prominent Cleveland physician, who is sixty years old but looks forty. He says he "feels thirty," and on the old theory that "woman, poor thing, is as old as she looks, but a man's just as young as he feels," he says he is only thirty. Dr. Horton is "husky", clear-eyed and the glow of health is reflected in his cheeks.

"I have been making a study of folks for forty years," said Dr. Horton today. "The trouble with most of them is that they 'exist' too fast. They don't live. In these days we don't really eat. We swallow pre-digested foods. We drink tea, coffee and other stimulants in ever increasing quantities. We exist in overheated, steam-heated atmospheres. We spend too much time in stuffy, unventilated street cars, and not enough in the open air. Our children skate in indoor rinks; our men play pool and poker in smoke filled rooms; our women play bridge in close drawing rooms. If there was more walking to school by children; walking at least part of the way to office by men, and walking to market by the women, we would all be better off. This artificiality is telling on us. Instead of controlling our muscles and nerves, our muscles and nerves control us."

"Such stimulants as coffee and tea contain ingredients, such as tannin, which close the glands which contain the fluids of life. These ingredients are contained in white and black pepper as well as in tea and coffee. Red pepper, however, has the opposite effect. It opens the glands and keeps the life fluids racing within us. In addition, it creates a thirst for water, which, by the way is about as near the 'waters of youth' or the 'elixir of life' as has been found. It is almost impossible for anyone to drink too much water. The body cannot be flushed too often. Drink more water and eat less food, even of the right kind, and you'll see how much better off you are both physically and mentally."

UNREST IS BREAKING OUT AMONG STREET CAR EMPLOYEES

Result of Discharge of Union Men and Delay in Receiving Decision of Commission.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29—Unrest is breaking out among the local street car employees over the discharge of union men and the delay in receiving the Indiana Public Service Commission's decision in the arbitration of the men's wage demands during the recent strike.

Without intending to alarm it can be stated on the highest authority that the danger of another strike is present, so long as one party to the arbitration contract is breaking the agreement. The union leaders are disposed to await the commission's decision but the rank and file of the union is seething. The treatment of the Terre Haute union employees of the same company is disposed to make the Indianapolis earmen believe that nothing favorable can be expected from the Indianapolis officials.

The pressure on the local union's officers became so great that A. H. Brown, president, in company with other officials of the union, went to the commission and asked what progress was being made toward a settlement. Brown was informed that the commission was considering the arbitration evidence but would announce no definite date when a finding would be handed down.

DESPONDENT "SNOOKUMS" TRIED TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Cat Believing He Has Been Neglected Attempts to End Life by Asphyxiation.

Having become despondent because he had been left alone "Snookums", a big, white cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morton, North Poplar street, tried to commit suicide by asphyxiation Wednesday afternoon, but his life was saved by the timely arrival of Mr. Morton. The manner in which the cat attempted self destruction is most unusual and it is doubtful if a parallel case has ever been recorded in the animal world.

Mrs. Morton was the guest of Miss Mabel Gray at Bedford and the cat was left alone during the day time. As he ordinarily receives much attention Snookums evidently came to the conclusion that he was being neglected and decided to end his lonesome and miserable existence. It appears that he adopted a very simple manner of committing suicide. He jumped upon the gas range and it is supposed that he turned on the gas with his front paws. He then calmly perched himself on top of the stove and was found with his nose close to the burner from which the gas was slowly freely.

Upon entering the house Wednesday afternoon Mr. Morton detected the order of escaping gas and upon investigation found the cat in his perilous position. A spark of life yet remained in his body and he was soon revived and today shows no ill effects of his experience.

His Preference.

"You say this man stole your coat?" said the magistrate. "Do I understand that you prefer charges against him?" "Well, no, your honor," replied the plaintiff. "I prefer the coat, if it's all the same to you, sir."

NEW B. & O. S-W. BRIDGE NEAR WASHINGTON IS COMPLETED

Structure is One of the Latest Types in Use in Modern Railroadng.

The new bridge on the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad near Washington was placed in use today. As soon as the Miami bridge west of Lawrenceburg is completed all the structures washed away by the flood last March will be replaced.

Regarding the bridge over White River at Washington the Herald says: It is now planned to move the bridge on to the new foundations as soon as train 55 goes west tomorrow morning, and it is believed by railroad men that the work of making the change will be completed in not more than thirty minutes. A similar change was accomplished in the east but a few days ago in about ten minutes.

The new structure is after the pattern of the latest bridges used in railroadng. The Pittsburg Construction company secured the contract and work was commenced immediately after the reeding of the waters early last May. Much trouble was experienced during the summer, as has been the case in many other places where bridges were washed away and the

A Square Deal.

Go-to-Church Sunday is the concerted appeal of the modern church for a square deal.

The church of today objects to being weighed in the balance of an outgrown pulpitology and found al dogmatism which has long been relinquished for the more helpful ministrations of real participation in the living interests of actual existence.

The multitudinous and spectacular interests of today are stimulated by skillful manipulation for psychological effect; attention is secured, interest follows attention, and the person follows interest.

Go-to-Church Sunday is the announcement of the Church that she offers to men a community life wherein the right attitude for human striving is sought for the benefit of all and the best development of the individual.

The invitation of the Go-to-Church movement is "Come and judge the church of today by the standard of our time; come and prove whether this modern interpreter of the Christ spirit is able to deliver the strong meat of right thinking to them that hunger and are not filled; come and satisfy yourself that the spiritual interpretation of life's problems is founded on a true appreciation of human destiny; come and realize that none of us liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself; for whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord; whether we live, therefore, or die, we are th Lord's."

PLUCKY SEAMEN BADLY BUFFETED

Thrilling Tale of Rescue of Vanderbilt Party.

GOOD WORK OF FRUIT VESSEL

With the Vanderbilt Yacht on Rocks on a Dangerous Reef and the Lifeboats of the First Rescue Steamer Dashed to Pieces in a Raging Sea, Hope Was Almost Abandoned Before Second Vessel Arrived.

New Orleans, Jan. 29.—Women who are leaders in the social world and men of millions stood for hours on Frederick W. Vanderbilt's big steam yacht Warrior and faced what looked to them like certain death while scores of sailors imperilled their lives and lost their lifeboats in efforts at rescue. The ultimate removal of the owner and passengers of the Warrior was sensational in the extreme. The fate of her crew remains a mystery, but the position of the yacht at last reports was critical.

These and other details have been received at the local wireless station of the United Fruit company, on whose ship, the Almirante, the rescued party is enroute to Colon. The yacht is believed to be slowly going to pieces on the great rocks at Aguatia, off the Colombian coast. Assistance has been sent the crew from Santa Marta, Colombia, forty miles from the scene of the accident.

The story of the rescue still is not complete, due to difficulty in receiving the Almirante's wireless, but enough is known to afford a remarkable tribute to the heroism of the officers and men of the United Fruit ship Frutera, the first vessel to the rescue. Captain Henshe's vessel arrived several hours after the Warrior's first S. O. S. call was sent out. There was a terrible sea running and the wind was blowing a gale. The ship stood by as close as was deemed safe, although even then the risk was great, as it was feared that the Frutera might run on the treacherous submerged rocks.

The first boat launched was smashed almost before it reached the water, several of the sailors being stunned as they were hurled against the steel sides of the steamer. While some of the men still were struggling in the water another boat was lowered. It capsized in a minute.

Doggedly Captain Henshe kept his men at work. Boat after boat turned upside down in rapid succession and the sea was filled with lifebuoys thrown to the men. All ultimately were picked up, but several will be incapacitated for duty for weeks.

All this time the Vanderbilt party, lashed to the rails, looked on. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Vanderbilt, the Duke and Duchess of Manchester and Lord Arthur George Keith Falconer, son and heir of the Earl of Kinross, saw what appeared to be their hope vanishing. The impossibility of throwing a line was apparent. Then the operator on the Warrior rushed from the cage and announced that the Frutera herself was sending distress signals. The belief was prevalent that the fruit ship had run upon the rocks and was in danger of going down. But the Frutera knew its business, and its radio was flashing out: "Almirante, Almirante, all our boats gone. Party on Vanderbilt yacht lost unless you come quick."

The Almirante, about forty miles distant, heeded and came. In the interval the seas had quieted somewhat, but the exhausted crew of the Frutera was in no condition to renew the fight, although men were kept in readiness, with one of the recovered lifeboats, in case the Warrior showed signs of breaking up.

When the Almirante came alongside two boats were lowered together and joined in rivalry to see which should reach the Warrior first. The beaten men of the Frutera cheered as the lifeboats came close to the stricken Vanderbilt craft and her passengers were taken off, the crew refusing to leave. Details of the actual rescue still are lacking, but one fragmentary unintelligible message says something about a woman in the water.

The party will remain aboard the Almirante until she reaches New York, where she is due Feb. 5. It is believed that the magnificent steel yacht will be a total loss.

The rescue ships pleaded vainly with the Warrior's master, but he simply sent a terse reply that he would stay with his ship.

THEIR PLANS PERFECTED

Congressmen Prepared For Investigation in Mine Fields.

Washington, Jan. 29.—At a meeting of the house committee on mines and mining held last night, plans were perfected for an investigation of the strikes in the Colorado coal and Michigan copper fields. For purposes of the investigation the committee will be divided into two equal groups. The first, which will be under the chairmanship of Representative Foster of Illinois, chairman of the committee itself, will go to the Colorado fields. The other, headed by Representative Hamlin of Missouri, will go to Michigan. The committee plans to start both investigations next week.

SHELBY M. CULLOM

Venerable Ex-Senator Dead
At Home in Washington.

FUNERAL OF CULLOM IN ILLINOIS CAPITOL

Services Will Be Held In Representatives' Hall.

Washington, Jan. 29.—After an illness of more than a week, during which he hovered between life and death, ex-Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois is dead here. His last words were a wish that he might have lived to see the completion of the national memorial to Abraham Lincoln, who was his personal friend. Since his retirement from the senate last March he had been resident commissioner of the commission created by congress to build the $2,000,000 Lincoln memorial.

A little more than a week ago Mr. Cullom was taken with grip. His advanced age put his recovery beyond hope, but his wonderful vitality postponed the end from one sinking spell to another. He was eighty-five years old and had a record of fifty years of continuous public service. The former senator's last hours were divided between spells of unconsciousness and short intervals in which he recognized those at his bedside.

A brief funeral service was conducted at the Cullom home on Massachusetts avenue at 10 o'clock this morning and the body then was placed on a train leaving at 11:45 a. m. for Springfield, Ill., where the former senator's first and second wives and all his children are buried.

Funeral services in Springfield will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the representatives' hall at the statehouse.

SHOT TWO MEN AND CHILD

Jacksonville (Ill.) Neighborhood Was Aroused by Wanton Murders.

Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 29.—Deputy sheriffs are searching for John Henry, who shot and killed three persons after a quarrel with his wife, at Woodson, eight miles south of here.

Mrs. Henry ran to the house of Charles I. Ezard when her husband came home intoxicated. Henry followed her and shot and killed Ezard when the latter interfered. Henry then returned to his home, kissed his children goodby and rode away in the darkness.

Half an hour later Constable Everett Crain was called to his door by Henry. Crain and his four-year-old son Howard, who followed him, were shot down and instantly killed.

CHAOS REIGNS IN TROUBLED HAYTI

No Way to Secure Successor to Fugitive President.

CONGRESS QUORUM UNLIKELY

All Reports to the State Department Indicate That Political Confusion in the Island Republic Is Just About as Bad as It Well Can Be, With the Revolutionary Element Clearly in the Ascendant.

Port Au Prince, Hayti, Jan. 29.—With the arrival of the United States battleship South Carolina and with American and German bluejackets guarding the legations and patrolling the town, conditions at Port Au Prince took on a more orderly aspect. A committee of public safety has been organized and it is believed that all danger to foreign residents is past.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The situation in Hayti is chaotic and likely to lead to the setting up of a revolutionist government in opposition to the declaration of President Wilson in favor of "constitutional government." This is indicated in meager dispatches received in Washington.

Reports of the abdication of President Orestes and his seeking refuge on the German cruiser Vineta as soon as fighting began in Port Au Prince were confirmed in dispatches to the state department. There is no government in Hayti, though the local authorities with the assistance of the American and German marines from the Montana and the Vineta, are restoring order.

Senator Theodore, leader of the revolution, is reported about to proceed to Port Au Prince, presumably to make an effort to secure his own installation in the presidency of the republic.

A strong force of revolutionists is reported enroute to the capital from St. Marc, only forty miles from Port Au Prince. Disorders in the city indicate there is a large element already favorable to the rebel leader and that he will have no difficulty in assuming control of the situation unless there is some intervening force to prevent.

The danger of the situation from the point of view of the United States lies in the fact that it is a matter of grave question whether a quorum of congress can be obtained to proceed to the election of a new president. If a quorum is obtained it is believed the forms of constitutionalism might in some degree be satisfied by the legislature choosing one of the rebel leaders, presumably Senator Theodore, for president.

Assurances were given by Minister Du Vivier of Hayti, that in his belief the revolutionists, if they took Port Au Prince, would not default on the interest payment on the railroad bonds, which is due next Monday. The rebel leaders realize too well, he said, the difficulty in which such action would involve them to default on the payment. The money is ready, it was said, in the National Bank of Hayti, which is the fiscal agent of the Haytian government.

BOTHA'S UNEXPECTED STEP

British Not Prepared For Sensational News From South Africa.

London, Jan. 29.—Even in those quarters where the action of the South African government in deporting to England ten leaders of the strike on the railroads and in the mines is looked upon with admiration, there are some misgivings regarding the results of this drastic policy, both in South Africa and in England.

General Botha's unexpected step to rid the country of the strike leaders by sending them secretly to Natal to be placed aboard a steamer and shipped to England, is compared with the methods familiarized by Paul Kruger, methods which were referred to in this country as having brought on the Boer war.

The radical newspapers are bitter in their denunciation of the action, but the conservative organs are inclined to be facetious at the expense of those who expected much from the granting of autonomy to South Africa.

GRAFT INQUIRY FINDS A PROMISING SOURCE

Big Contractor Appears Before
Grand Jury Today.

New York, Jan. 29.—To be questioned concerning the attempt to get $150,000 from his company, James C. Stewart was called before the grand jury today. Since his appearance two weeks ago in the John Doe inquiry, District Attorney Whitman has received information that will materially assist him in questioning the contractor.

He knows now that Stewart went to Charles F. Murphy after a man named Gaffney tried to get a campaign contribution from him. He knows that Stewart's counsel, United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, told former Governor Sulzer with Stewart's permission that it was James E. Gaffney who visited him and that he went to Murphy because he believed Murphy authorized the solicitation of $150,000. With this club in hand and the further assurance that Senator O'Gorman intends to corroborate the story of Mr. Sulzer, the district attorney believes he can force from Stewart the most sensational testimony yet offered in his investigation of highway and campaign contribution frauds.

When Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, was asked to comment on Stewart's appearance before the grand jury and the likelihood that he would correct his previous testimony, he said:

"I shall not discuss any phase of the graft investigations until I am put on the stand under oath."

"Have you been subpoenaed by District Attorney Whitman?"

"No."

"Has he intimated that he will want you?"

"No. I have had no communication with him on the subject."

COMING STATE CONVENTION

Potentialities of Democratic Situation
Being Discussed.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—The political pot is beginning to boil and about the lobbies of the hotels where men who do things in Indiana politics are wont to gather there is much discussion of the possibilities of the coming Democratic state convention, which will be the first to put a state ticket in the field.

In these informal confabs the probable personnel of that ticket, of course, is the chief topic of discussion, and it is a matter of comment that in the discussion of the various candidacies no name is oftener heard than that of George Macomber of Danville, treasurer of Hendricks county, who is a candidate for the nomination to the office of state treasurer, subject to the decision of the coming convention.

Mr. Macomber is a Normal school graduate and for a number of years was connected with the educational department of the Indiana boys' school at Plainfield, later assuming the superintendency of a similar institution in Missouri. He was elected treasurer of Hendricks county in 1910, being the first Democrat to hold that position. In 1912 he was re-elected by an increased majority.

MOVE TO CLOSE MUNCIE SALOONS

"Drys" Trying to Secure Another Election.

PETITIONS BEING CIRCULATED

Asserting the Town Will Vote the Saloons Out by No Fewer Than Five Hundred Votes, Anti-Saloon Folk Are Busy Securing Monster Petition Asking Commissioners to Order an Option Election.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 29.—One hundred petitions in the hands of as many "dry" workers are in circulation throughout the city asking the county commissioners to call an option election for the city of Muncie. It is thought the election will be held in March or April. The "dry" workers say they have enough signatures to bring about the election, only 20 per cent of actual voters being necessary, but will circulate the petitions until 50 per cent of all the voters in Muncie are on the petitions.

One saloon keeper is said to have obtained possession of a petition and to be circulating it throughout the barrooms. The liquor dealers are taking the matter good-naturedly, feeling sure, they say, that nothing adverse to their interests will come of the election. The "drys" are asserting that Muncie will vote out the saloons by not fewer than 500 votes.

Muncie has had two previous option elections. When the county was the option unit the city itself voted "dry" by 209 votes. With the city as a unit later, Muncie voted "wet" by 504.

OUTPUT OF COAL REDUCED

Hope of Average Production Now
Rests on a Cold February.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 29.—The Indiana coal field will go on record with the smallest output for January in seven years. Some of the older operators recall that there have been years when hardly freezing weather prevailed until February and then the short month gave enough zero temperature to make an average winter coal consumption. Such a February now is the only hope for a revival in the domestic coal trade. There is an appreciable increase in the demand for steam coal and the reports are for revival in the industrial world. Only a few of the 175 mines in the field have been doing as well as three days a week through the month. Those are the ones which have large contracts for locomotive coal.

SEEKING STATE CHAIRMAN

Several Mentioned as Head of Republican Committee.

Their Sentences Suspended.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—Frank T. Singleton of Martinsville is the latest Republican who is being talked of for the chairmanship of the Republican state committee, which will reorganize Feb. 12. It seems likely that the choice for chairman will be made outside of the new state committee unless Will H. Hays of Sullivan should be willing to take it.

Among others talked of for the chairmanship are John McCordle of Indianapolis, John Moorman of Knox, Charles Henderson of Indianapolis, Webb Woodfill of Greensburg and John G. Bryson of Brazil, chairman of the Fifth district.

Jury Acquits Debolt.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 29.—A jury in the circuit court found Alois Debolt not guilty of having stolen $500 worth of jewelry and diamonds from Mrs. Harting, his former landlady at Elwood. Even more pleased than Debolt at the result of the verdict was his sweetheart, Miss Josephine St. John of Paris, Ill., who sat by his side during the three days of the trial. It is said that the wedding of the young couple will take place soon.

Uses Assaultant's Gun as Club.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 29.—After being shot twice, George Moon wrested a revolver from the grasp of Glenn Ruddell and beat him on the head with it. Ruddell is in a more serious condition than is Moon. The fight between the two was provoked by Moon objecting to alleged ill treatment of his daughter, Mrs. Ruddell. One bullet struck Moon in the groin. The other caused a scalp wound.

Chicken Thieves Pleased Guilty.

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 29.—Clarence and Wash Burnell, who pleaded guilty to attempting to steal chickens from Frank Jones, a farmer living south of the city, were sentenced to two to fourteen years in prison, but sentence was suspended pending good behavior. Clarence at the time of the attempted robbery was shot by Jones.

Prof. Taft Will Speak.

New Harmony, Ind., Jan. 29.—Former President Taft has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the centennial celebration here June 8.

When the woman refused to marry him James F. Glennard, a former convict, shot and killed Mrs. Cleo Ferrand, a widow, in San Francisco, and committed suicide.

CHAPTER VI.

Mad Anthony.

Beyond the selvage of the sleepy leaf-sheltered village a cherry bordered lane met the Red Road. On its one side was a clovered pasture and beyond this an orchard, bounded by a tall hedge of close-clipped box which separated it from a broad yard where the gray-weathered roof of Rosewood showed above a group of tulip and catalpa trees. On the sunny steps a lop-eared puppy was playing with a mottled cat.

The front door was open, showing a hall where stood a grandfather's clock and a spindle-legged table holding a bowl of potpourri. The timepiece had landed from a sailing vessel at Jamestown wharf with the household goods of that English Garland who had adopted the old Middle Plantation when Dunmore was royal governor under George III. Framed portraits and engravings lent tints of tarnished silver, old-rose and sunset-golds—colors time-toned and reminiscent, carrying a charming sense of peaceful content, of gentleness and long tradition. The dark polished stairway had at its turn a square dormer window which looked out upon one of the rose-arbors.

Down this stair, somewhat later that afternoon, came Shirley Dandridge, booted and spurred, the rebellious whorls of her russet hair now as closely filleted as a Greek boy's, in a short divided skirt of yew-green and a cool white blouse and swinging by its ribbon a green hat whose rolling brim was caught up at one side by a crisp blue-black hawk's feather. She stopped to peer out of the dormer-window to where, under the latticed weave of bloom beside a round iron table holding a hoop of embroidery and a book or two a lady sat reading.

The lady's hair was silver, but not with age. It had been so for many years, refuted by the transparent skin and a color as soft as the cheek of an apricot. It was solely in her dark eyes, deep and strangely luminous, that one might see lurking the somber spirit of passion and of pain. But they were eager and brilliant withal, giving the lie to the cane whose crook one pale delicate hand held with a clasp that somehow conveyed a sense of exasperate if semi-humorous rebellion.

She looked up at Shirley's voice, and smiled brightly. "Off for your ride, dear?"

"Yes, I'm going with the Chalmers."

"Oh, of course. Betty Page is visiting them, isn't she?"

Shirley nodded. "She came yesterday. I'll have to hurry, for I saw them from my window turning into the Red Road." She waved her hand and ran lightly down the stair and across the lawn to the orchard.

She pulled a green apple from a bough that hung over a stone wall and with this in her hand she came close to the pasture fence and whistled a peculiar call. It was answered by a low whinny and a soft thud of hoofs, and a golden-chestnut hunter thrust a long nose over the bars, flaring flame-lined nostrils to the touch of her hand. She laid her cheek against the white thoroughbred forehead and held the apple to the larger reaching lip, with several teasing withdrawals before she gave it to its juicy crunching.

She let down the top bar of the fence and vaulting over, ran to a stable and presently emerging with a saddle on her arm, whistled the horse to her and saddled him. Then opening the gate, she mounted and cantered down the lane to meet the oncoming riders—a kindly-faced, middle-aged man, a younger one with dark features and coal-black hair, and two girls.

Chisholm Lusk spurred in advance and lifted his hat. "I held up the judge, Shirley," he said, "and made him bring me along. He tells me there's a fox hunt on tomorrow; may I come?"

"Pshaw! Chilly," said the judge, "I don't believe you ever got up at five o'clock in your born days. You've learned bad habits abroad."

"You'll see," he answered. "If my man Friday doesn't rout me out tomorrow, I'll be up for murder."

They rode an hour, along stretches of sunny highways or on shaded bridle-paths where the horses' hoofs fell muffled in brown pine-needles and drooping branches flicked their faces. Then, by a murky way gouged with brusque gullies, across sheaving fields and "turn-rows" in a long detour around Powhattan Mountain, a rough spur in the shape of an Indian's head that wedged itself forbiddingly between the fields of spring corn and tobacco.

"Do let us get a drink!" said Chilly Lusk. "I'm as thirsty as a cotton-battening camel."

"All right, we'll stop," agreed the judge, "and you'll have a chance to see a local lion, Betty. This is where Mad Anthony lives. You must have heard of him when you were here before. He's almost as celebrated as the Reverend John Jasper of Richmond."

Betty tapped her temple. "Where have Ah heard of John Jasper?"

"He was the author of the famous sermon on 'The Sun do Move.' He used to prove it by a bucket of water that he set beside his pulpit Saturday night. As it hadn't spilled in the morning he knew it was the earth that stood still."

Betty nodded laughingly. "Ah remember now. Is Mad Anthony really mad?"

"Only harmlessly," said Shirley. "He's stone blind. The negroes all believe he conjures—that's voodoo, you know. They put a lot of stock in his 'prophecies.' He tells fortunes, too. 'Sah!' she warned. 'He's sitting on the dog-step. He's heard us.'"

The old negro had the torso of a black patriarch. He sat bolt upright with long straight arms resting on his knees, and his face had that peculiar expressionless immobility seen in Egyptian carvings. His age might have been anything, judging from his face which was so seamed and creviced with innumerable tiny wrinkles that it most resembled the tortured glaze of some ancient bitumen pottery unearthed from a tomb of Kor. The judge dismounted, and tossing his bride over a fence-picket, took from his pocket a collapsible drinking cup. "Howdy do, Anthony," he said. "We just stopped for a drink of your good water."

The old negro nodded his head. "Good watah," he said in the gentle quavering tones of extreme age. "Yas, Marse. Hep yo'self. Come fom he centah ob de yert, dat watah. En dah's folks say de centah ob de yert is all fiah. Yo' reck'n dey's right, Marse Chahmahs?"

"Now, how the devil do you know who I am, Anthony?" The judge set down his cup on the well-curb. "I haven't been here for a year."

The ebony head moved slowly from side to side. "Ol' Antny don' need no eyes," he said, touching his hand to his brow. "He see ev'ryting heah."

The judge beckoned to the others and they trooped inside the paling. "I've brought some other folks with me, Anthony; can you tell who they are?"

The sightless look wavered over them and the white head shook slowly. "Don' know young marse," said the gentle voice. "How many yuddahs wid yo'? One, two? No, I don' know young mistis, eidah."

"I reckon you don't need any eyes," Judge Chalmers laughed, as he passed the sweet cold water to the rest. "One of these young ladies wants you to tell her fortune."

The old negro dropped his head, waving his gaunt hands restlessly. The judge beckoned to Betty Page, but she shook her head with a little grimace and drew back.

"You go, Shirley," she whispered, and with a laughing glance at the others, Shirley came and sat down on the lowest step.

Mad Anthony put out a wavering hand and touched the young body. His fingers strayed over the habit and went up to the curling bronze under the hat-brim. "Dis de lil' mistis," he muttered, "ain' afeahd ob ol' Antny. Dah's fiah en she ain' afeahd, en dah's watah en she ain' afeahd. Wondah whut Ah gwine tell huh? Whut de coloh ob yo' hair, honey?"

"Black," put in Chilly Lusk, with a wink at the others. "Black as a crow."

Old Anthony's hand fell back to his knee. "Young marse laugh at de ol' man," he said, "but he don' know. Dat de coloh dat buh mah han's—de coloh ob gol', en eyes blue like er cat-bird's aig. Dah's er man gwine look in dem eyes, honey, en gwine make 'em cry en cry." He raised his head sharply, his lids shut tight, and swung his arm toward the North. "Dah's whah he come fom," he said, "en heah"—his arm veered and he pointed straight toward the ragged hill behind them—"he stay."

Lusk laughed noiselessly. "He's pointing to Damory Court," he whispered to Nancy Chalmers, "the only uninhabited place within ten miles. That's as near as he often hits it, I fancy."

"Heah's whah he stay," repeated the old man. "Heap ob trouble wath heah fo' him too, honey—heap ob trouble, heah whah lil' mistis fin' him."

"Come, Anthony," said Judge Chalmers, laying his hand on the old man's shoulder. "That's much too mournful! Give her something nice to top off with, at least!"

But Anthony paid no heed. "Gr't trouble. Dah's fiah en she ain' afeahd, en dah's watah en she ain' afeahd. En Ah sees yo' gwine ter him, honey. Ah heah's de co'ot-house clock a-strikin' in de night—en yo' gwine. Don' wait, don' wait, lil' mistis, er de trouble-cloud gwine kyah him erway fom yo' . . ."

When de clock strike thuh-teen—when de clock strike thuh-teen—

The droning voice ceased. The gaunt form became rigid. Then he started and turned his eyes slowly about him, a vague look of anxiety on his face. For a moment no one moved. When he spoke again it was once more in his gentle quavering voice:

"Watah? Yas, Marse, good watah. Hep yo'self."

The judge set a dollar bill on the step and weighted it with a stone, as the rest remounted. "Well, good-by, Anthony," he said. "We're mightily obliged."

He sprang into the saddle and the quartette cantered away. "My experiment wasn't a great success, I'm afraid, Shirley," he said ruefully.

"Oh, I think it was splendid!" cried Nancy. "Do you suppose he really believes those spooky things? I declare, at the time I almost did myself. What an odd idea—when the clock strikes thirteen, which, of course, it never does."

"Don't mind, Shirley," bantered Lusk. "When you see all 'dem troubles' coming, sound the alarm and we'll fly in a body to your rescue."

They let their horses out for a pounding gallop which pulled down suddenly at a muffled shriek from Betty Page, as her horse went into the air at sight of an automobile by the roadside.

"Now, whose under the canopy is that?" exclaimed Lusk.

"It's stalled," said Shirley. "I passed here this afternoon when the owner was trying to start it, and I sent Uncle Jefferson as first aid to the injured."

"I wonder who he can be," said Nancy. "I've never seen that car before."

"Why," said Betty gaily, "Ah know! It's Mad Anthony's trouble-man, of course, come for Shirley."

His Stomach Troubles Over.

Mr. Dyspeptic, would you like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have been, why not you? John R. Barker, of Battle Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers.

PAINT PALATES TO MAKE BOYS QUIT CIGARETTES.

Treatment Advised by Recorder May Be Adopted For Hoboken (N. J.) Schools.

A crusade to curb the cigarette habit among boys—and men, too—by application of nitrate of silver on the palates of the victims has been inaugurated by Recorder John J. McGovern of Hoboken, N. J.

If the treatment proves a success it may be introduced in the public schools of the city, the recorder announces.

"I heard of the success of this treatment through the experiments of a German professor," said Recorder McGovern, "and found that it had been tried by the Anti-Cigarette league in Chicago, and I obtained a copy of the prescription there."

At one session about fifty men and boys had their palates and throats painted by Drs. Joseph Londrigan and John Graunelli of the medical staff of the Hoboken board of education. All agreed that the taste was worse than the cigarettes, but each had a different version descriptive of what the taste resembled.

"The taste will grow more repulsive by tomorrow," was the confidential whisper of one of the physicians to the recorder. "If they try to smoke a cigarette or cigar for the next day or two the effects of the treatment will be sickening."

Each of the "patients" received a prescription, providing a wash of the nitrate of silver to be taken after meals or when the desire for a smoke comes upon him, and all were ordered to chew the bitter root of the gentian plant as a further step toward a cure.

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."

—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 7305 Madison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 196 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

QUESTION OF LOYALTY COMES UP IN SENATE

"Patent Insides" Printers Secured By Committee.

Washington, Jan. 29.—How Canada has paid the Western Newspaper Union $42,000 a year for the last twelve years to circulate reading matter about the Dominion through the medium of "patent insides," which the union furnishes to newspapers, was told to the senate lobby committee by George A. Joslyn of Omaha, president of the union, and Alfred Washington, its advertising manager.

Joslyn testified that the matter so circulated was marked "advertisement" and was designed to induce Americans to emigrate to Canada. Washington testified under cross-examination that he did not think it unpatriotic nor disloyal to his country to circulate such matter.

"You were hired by a foreign government to do an act disloyal to your own country. Are you not ashamed of that?" thundered Senator Nelson.

Washington pleaded in extenuation that big Chicago papers had published the same kind of articles. W. J. White, Canadian official in charge of immigration agencies in the United States, appeared voluntarily to say his government spent $70,000 a year advertising in the United States for immigrants. He added that he did not disparage the United States in the advertising he handled.

TOWN SHAPED LIKE COMET.

So Liquors Can Be Sold Within Its Boundaries, Governor Says.

The peculiar shape of West Woodburn, Marion county, Ore., has got the town into trouble. Suit has been started by the district attorney at the instance of Governor West to have its incorporation declared void. The governor insists that the appearance of the town on the map, which he likened to a comet with a tail, is caused by a desire to have liquors sold within its borders, and that that is the sole purpose of the incorporation. It is so set forth in the suit.

The governor's secretary, who made an investigation, reported that in places the town was less than thirty feet wide, being thus contracted to exclude the homes of persons favoring prohibition.

The Kind of Religion for Seymour

An Advertisement by
The Go-to-Church Committee of Seymour

Seymour has religion.

Yes, and she is going to get more of it, and a better quality.

For there is more than one kind of religion.

There is the gaudy kind that is kept carefully put away in moth balls or a cedar chest. If the weather is good and other conditions favorable, it is sometimes worn on Sunday.

Then again, there is the good, substantial religion that is worn twenty-four hours every day of the year. It is usually homespun and wholly devoid of modern frills.

The possessor never seems to be afraid of ruining it by carrying a bucket of coal into the widow's cottage, or in stooping beside the fallen on life's muddy highways.

This everlasting, perfect fitting, warranted and guaranteed type of religion is never obtainable at fire sales or mid-season clearances.

It is absolutely one price the year round and there are no exclusive agencies.

It may be found in every church in Seymour where the preacher and the people are in the right relation with the great Maker.

Religion is the outward expression of an inner spirit inspired by God. "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness"—and righteousness is "right living."

The Church offers the way to righteousness—to real religion.

Here is the chance for the man and the woman who believe in doing worth-while things. For religion—real religion—means the doing of worth-while things.

Here is the chance for the man and the woman who have said that the church is ineffective. For the church needs virile, red-blooded men and women, to help apply Christianity to everyday problems in Seymour.

Here is the chance for the man and the woman who believe that the poor and the unfortunate are entitled to the help of the strong. For one of the foundation stones of the church is the divine command, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Try the church during next Sunday by attending the services to be held by all of the congregations.

Sunday, Feb. 1, is Go-to-Church Sunday in Seymour.

Hundreds who have not been to church for years will go next Sunday.

Apprehension

My Uncle Jim, he says, says he: "I guess I'll stay at home. I reckon there's no chance for me through halls of state to roam. I'm confident that I could give some help in making laws And show the people how to live Supporting freedom's cause."

"But there's a time when you get through."

With patriotic powers. The question is, What would I do Outside of office hours? When unto pleasure I would turn I'd never get a chance. I don't believe that I could learn To do the tango dance!"

—Washington Star.

Cynical. "I read the other day of a woman who complained of her husband because he had never said a word since their marriage."

"Odd thing that she noticed it!"—Baltimore American.

TO CREATE LIFE IS AIM OF ROCKEFELLER SCIENTIST.

Experiments With Sea Anemone Lend Interest to Harvard Man's Conclusion.

Professor Jacques Loeb of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, formerly of the University of California, is at Pacific Grove, Cal., to establish his marine research laboratory where he will try to build up a new artificial creation. He will start with the lowest of living things, the sea anemone, and work upward to higher organisms.

The chief ingredients are salt, oxygen and nitrogen.

Before a distinguished group of scientists in the Johns Hopkins Physical Laboratory at Baltimore Dr. L. J. Henderson of Harvard university asserted that researches extending over many years had convinced him that inorganic matter contained latent life. He added that he believed that this latent life became active under certain conditions and that soon the line between the two forms of existence would be crossed.

"The ocean," he said, "is the element which might contain such conditions. The organization of the ocean fits it to sustain life better than any other environment, and the fundamental characteristics of the ocean also encourage the evolution of active life."

"Variations of temperature in the ocean from various causes are slighter than in any other matter. For this as well as other reasons we find that water is best adapted to the evolution of organic matter. In the ocean we see every degree of development from the highest to the lowest forms of life. Certain forms of activity in the ocean are the lowest forms of the organic life we know of, so low that we seem to be on the dividing line between the organic and inorganic. If we are to believe in the theory of evolution, may we not go a step further and conclude that inorganic life under certain conditions, such as those contained in the ocean, will develop organic life?"

Here's a Unique Mentality Test Tried In Chicago.

STUMPED CITY'S NOTABLES.

All You Have to Do is to Strike Out the Letter "A" 100 Times In a Race With the Clock—Upward or Downward Stroke the Quicker?—Which Do You Think?

TRY THIS MENTALITY TEST.

The above is not the meaningless jumble of letters it appears to be nor yet a proclamation in a foreign tongue. It is a test chart prepared for children by an expert in "race betterment" to grade mentality, which a few days ago was introduced to various Chicago efficiency experts with more or less amusing results. Scattered at intervals throughout the queer arrangement or disarrangement of the alphabet the vowel "a" is used 100 times, and the test required that each victim strike out each "a" in a given time to rank up to normal. It is a painful duty to record that certain eminent individuals fell below grade.

Among those asked to try their hands were Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools; John D. Shoop, assistant superintendent of schools; Major James Miles, head of the city civil service efficiency department; Robert A. Widdowson, secretary of the city civil service commission; Harris Keeler, superintendent of the bureau of public efficiency; Francis D. Hanna, secretary of the city expenditures commission, and A. A. McCormick, president of the county board.

"All ready," said Major Miles, with pencil poised; "say when."

"Go!" commanded the tester. The mayor's rating was "fair."

Joyously the scientific investigator departed for A. A. McCormick's office. "Is that all I have to do?" asked the president of the county board. "Just strike out every 'a'? Here goes!"

His pencil traversed the paper rapidly.

Only Fair.

"Ninety-five," announced the tester. "We can only rate you as 'fair!'"

"Well," said Mr. McCormick, "you might let the public know that I went to the irresponsible ward immediately after finishing."

Mr. Widdowson was impressed at once with the fact that much time might be saved by making upstrokes instead of downstrokes.

"Just look here," he explained and began.

"There," he announced at the end of three lines. "There's three lines in seventeen seconds. I refuse to go any further. That means that I would have finished in forty-five seconds. I will rest on my laurels."

"What's the game?" demanded Mr. Hanna. "Crossing out the 'a' in such words as 'aslinity'? Well, I can do it." Scurry, scurry, scurry, went the Hanna pencil.

An Uncomplimentary Opinion.

"Seventy," said the tester. "Pretty good. Subtracting thirty-four for marking time, that gives you thirty-six for thinking time. Your rating is 'good.'"

"Well, perhaps it is," said Mr. Hanna, "but it seems to me that moral training at home by precept and example is better than this sort of scientific tommyrot for developing minds."

Mrs. Young, through her secretary, announced that she was "too busy" to go into the matter of the test just then, and the investigator departed in search of Mr. Shoop.

"Great idea," said that individual, dodging skillfully. "Go and see Dr. MacMillan. He's studying right along those lines."

Dr. D. P. MacMillan, director of the board's child study department, was corralled in his room. There was a surprise in store for him.

"Say," he cried when it had all been explained to him, "that's my system. I invented that. Who's using it now?"

A Tango Geography.

A publisher of Paris has issued a map of the world which plainly indicates where the tango is danced and where it is prohibited by the clergy, where it is debarred by royalty and where it is frowned upon by officialdom. Austria is apparently the haven of the tango, as are also the states of Texas and Wyoming.

WOMEN SORRY TO QUIT PANAMA

Those Employed by Uncle Sam Returning to Homes.

LIKED STAY IN CANAL ZONE

Nurses, Teachers and Clerks All Found Plenty of Amusement—One of Them Says Panama Has Best Matrimonial Inducements—Plenty of Men and High Class Wives.

With the men workers returning from Panama are many women who have been helping in one way or another the tremendous undertaking—school-teachers, hospital nurses, stenographers and the like.

On the Ancon, arriving at New York the other day, was Virginia Carlisle, who had been a worker for the government in several positions almost since the first of the American invasion. "I was sorry to leave Panama," said she. "It is a great country and has been a great place for the American women who have lived there. The greatest number of white American women employed there by the United States at any one time was 200."

"This number includes 120 professional nurses, forty-five teachers, a dozen stenographers and clerks, forty clerks in commissary stores and a telegrapher. In the city of Panama there were also a woman photographer, a dressmaker, a chiropodist and a woman who made a business of selling corsets."

The nurses are paid $60, $75 and $80 a month and are furnished food, quarters and laundry service. Only professional nurses are employed.

"The schoolteachers are paid $90 and $110 a month and furnished quarters, but not subsistence. They live at various points along the line of the canal, wherever their work happens to be."

Matrimonial Advantages.

"There is one great objection to the life of a bachelor woman on the canal zone, and that is that she has no room of her own. Always there is a roommate, and the consequent lack of privacy is very trying. Except for this, I regard the life of a schoolteacher as rather agreeable. The proportion of men to unmarried women has always been very great, probably ten to one, and the girls always had invitations for dances and other amusements such as the village life offers. Many of them got married, and I regarded the opportunities of this kind as distinctly superior to those enjoyed by women in the United States, because the general average of the men there was high. Only women qualified by education and experience are now employed by the canal zone government. The standard is very high."

"In general, I would advise an American girl who would like to go to Panama not to do so unless she has definite work awaiting her or has some friend there with whom she can live until an opportunity for work occurs."

"There are plenty of amusements in Panama for us, and among the most pleasant of all of them are the beach parties that those who live in or near Panama city enjoy."

"Picnics, as we know them in the United States, are impossible in Panama, because the woods are all jungle and fields are alive with little ticks, called 'red bugs,' and the larger cattle ticks."

Delights of a Panama Beach Party.

"In place of picnics we have the beach and lunch parties. Panama city is situated on a bay that stretches in a half circle on both sides of the town. Along this bay is a broad sandy beach, and about two miles east of the city is a stretch between two estuaries called 'the bathing beach.' Back of this are a tidal swamp and the sabanas, and on the sand spit between the swamp and the sea, just above high tide line, is a dense thicket of mangle wood and manzanilla."

"During the week the place is deserted, and it is then that the beach parties are held. The men get a brake large enough to hold twenty people, the girls pack a lunch, and about 5:30 o'clock we start. Moonlight nights are chosen. At sunset we are all in the water, and often we play about in our bathing clothes until as late as 9 o'clock. Meanwhile a big fire of driftwood has been made and a pot of coffee is brewing in the coals. Then we eat our supper, seated about on the warm sand."

"When thinking over these parties along the sea I wonder how we shall ever stand it to be long away from the land, where we have the mountains and the sea always imminent, and the delights of good companionship in enjoying them."

GO-THALS.

"Go-thals." That's how to pronounce it—with the "o" as in no and the "a" as in fall. The colonel says so himself, and surely he ought to know.

Some say "Gerthals," other "Gothals," with the short "o." "Gertels" is another, and the Germans favor "Gaytals."
